How did a poor orphan from rural China rise to lead the world’s electric vehicle revolution?

This is the extraordinary journey of Wang Chuanfu, the founder of BYD. Wang Chuanfu (Chinese: ; born 8 April 1966) is a Chinese chemist, billionaire entrepreneur, and the founder, chairman and CEO of the BYD Company. Chuanfu has given away the secret on why BYD had been able to become one of the only two manufacturers in the world — themselves and Tesla being the other one — actually able to make EVs and sell them at a profit. During the launch event, Wang Chuanfu, Chairman and President of BYD, said that over 70% of China's oil is imported, with a major portion transported. BYD unveiled its first major battery upgrade in six years on Thursday, as the Chinese electric vehicle maker seeks to regain momentum in a highly competitive domestic market after a steep sales slump. The second-generation Blade Battery can charge rapidly from 20% to 97% in under 12 minutes, even.
